Dear Steve,

Thank you for taking the time to share a selection of your of your life's work with me.

It brings me great pleasure when I hear about individuals who take a strong personal interest in helping parents understand the signs of children who might be a danger to themselves and others. I am glad that there are people like you that are willing to help others in such a dire position.

Thank you again dedicating your time and energy to this noble endeavor. I commend your book and hope that you'll continue to write. Good luck in the future.

Sincerely,

Charles Schumer
United States Senator
